The receipts from the collection will amount to more than $70, all of which will go to the chief of police, who is recuperating so that he can undergo another operation soon.

Hearing on Artis Airport Petition Set for Monday; Many from Here to Testify

Several Antioch residents expect to go to Chicago Monday to testify before state aeronautics officials in the rehearing of the petition of Bruce Artis to establish a public airport west of the village.

Artis was given permission to build the airport last fall, but the objectors asked for a rehearing on the case and were granted it.

The hearing will be conducted at 10 a. m. in the office of the Illinois Department of Aeronautics, room 1637 Burnham building, 160 N. La Salle st., Chicago.

Objections were made by property owners in the lake area who said that the airport would lower the value of their properties. The aeronautics board considered this ground as insufficient.

Artis will get support from those interested in the Civil Air Patrol squadron now being formed here.

Many Candidates Out For High School Track; Two Ball Games Added

Twenty candidates are trying out for positions on the Antioch varsity track team while twice that number are trying for positions on the freshman-sophomore team.

The number is more than usually is enrolled at this time and is accounted for by the fact that track is regarded as a conditioner for baseball. Track will start in April and baseball in May, according to Coach Maurice Krusan.

Two games were added to the varsity baseball schedule. Ela will open the season here against the Sequoia on May 3 in a game that will not count in the conference standing, and Waukegan will come here May 6, three days later, in a game under the same circumstances.

Echoes of basketball were heard here last weekend when Barrington, winner in the Northwest Conference and winner over Antioch in the district tournament, went into the regional finals against Evanston by taking close games from Highland Park and Waukegan. The defeat of Waukegan was a big upset. The Barrington team was shadowed in the game with Evanston, having exhausted herself in the other games. Her victory over two suburban league teams raised the prestige of the Northwest conference.

Rosecrans Pupils Sent To Gurnee After Their School Burned Saturday

The Antioch fire department stood by in case of need for the Newport Township fire department Saturday during a fire which did $5,000 damage to the Rosecrans school building.

The building was so badly damaged that it has been necessary to transfer the children to Gurnee until the building can be repaired. They and their teacher occupy a basement room at Gurnee and are transported by bus.

Local firemen agree with Chief LeRoy Fritz of the Wadsworth department that the fire was caused by an overheated furnace. He said the fire was banked Friday night and probably overheated the flue. He said the fire broke through the walls on the floor and probably smoldered some time for it was noticed at 8 a. m.

A neighbor saw smoke pouring from the roof and turned in the alarm.

The need of Europe and Asia for food, medicine and clothing will be dramatized.

Tuesday Last Day for Filing of Petitions on Village Election Ballot

Walter I. Scott of 406 Second st., serving as deputy village clerk, said yesterday that he had received no applications for positions on the village election ballot. Next Tuesday is the last day for filing.

Scott is taking the place of Clerk L. D. Powles, who with Mrs. Powles left on Tuesday for Florida to spend a two-week vacation. Before Powles left he had received only the petition from Charles Cermak, seeking the office of village president. Petition papers have been taken out for the candidacy of George B. Bartlett, seeking re-election as president.

While a complete ticket has been assured by the party headed by Bartlett, Cermak is running independently and rumors have as yet produced no opposition party.

The Antioch Aces 4-H club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Dewes after school Tuesday, March 15. The girls' mothers are invited to attend.

Safe For 59,000 Years!

The railroads have long been known as a means of transportation which carries passengers and goods to their destinations quickly, safely, and with a very high degree of dependability.

Last year, according to figures recently issued by the Association of American Railroads, marked another major advance in railroad safety. The passenger safety record was the best in 12 years. And the employee fatality record was the best in the 50 years in which records of this kind have been kept.

The chance of getting killed on a train almost defies computation. In 1948 the railroads performed the incredible total of 41,150,000,000 miles of passenger service. Yet only 19 passenger fatalities resulted from train accidents, and only 42 from all causes. This marked a decrease of 28 per cent from 1947, and compares with the average during the depression when passenger traffic was less than half as great.

When it came to railroad employees, the fatality rate was 0.17 for every million man-hours worked, a figure which casts great credit on management and labor alike.

So much for totals. What do they mean to you, as an individual passenger? They mean that, on the average, you could ride 100 miles a day for about 59,000 years before running the risk of being fatally injured in a train accident! Passengers who keep on traveling after their 59,000 years are up, do so at their own risk.

The Miners' Income

At more or less regular intervals, controversies between coal miners and the operators over wages and kindred matters assume an important place in the news. This usually happens shortly before it is time to negotiate a new management-labor contract, and will undoubtedly happen again. So the public should have a clear understanding of the miners' economic position, and how it has changed in late years.

A recent survey, based on U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics reports, is particularly illuminating. It shows two things: first, the increases that have taken place in the miners' dollar earnings, and, second, the improvement in their purchasing power.

Using 1939 as a base point, and giving it the index figure of 100, the average weekly earnings of miners were at 299.5 as 1948 neared its end. They had, in other words, been multiplied three times over a ten-year period. This was a much larger gain than was registered for manufacturing as a whole, and has placed the coal industry at the top of the list so far as pay scales are concerned.

The real importance of wages lies in what they will buy. And here too the miners have made remarkable gains. Still giving 1939 the index value of 100, consumer prices had touched 172.1 near the end of 1948. In short, prices were well under twice what they had been while miners had three times as many dollars in the pay envelope to shop with.

In all probability no comparable working force in history has made so much material progress in so short a time as the coal miners. In the long run, their welfare will depend on sustained high production per man, that will justify their pay rates, and make it possible for coal to hold its place in a highly competitive market.

The Right to Choose

In the middle of February, 214,372 retail stores, situated in some 10,000 American communities, joined forces in a campaign bearing the theme, "Democracy Works Here." The purpose of the campaign is to demonstrate to the buying public that the right to pick and choose at store counters is a forceful expression of American democracy at work. Every size, type and description of store is included. Newspapers, the radio and compelling store displays will be employed to emphasize what the free enterprise system does day in and day out for the people.

It is particularly fitting that retailing should sponsor such a campaign. It is one of the most competitive of all enterprises—every community has its chains, its independents, its department stores and the rest. It is also an enterprise which has made tremendous progress in the last generation. We have infinitely more goods to choose from, services have been broadened, the improvement in sanitation has been almost revolutionary and—despite higher prices—the profit earned by the average retailer on each dollar spent with him is far smaller than it used to be. The free market has been the relentless driving force which has made all that possible.

Every retail store is a miniature show place of the American way of doing things. The intricate machinery of production and distribution is geared to your needs and desires. In a controlled economy, people get what the bosses think they ought to have—in a free economy they get what they want. That is the difference—and what a difference it is.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

You know, you head down Main Street and talk to different ones you meet, you won't talk long 'till you get around to what the heck we are coming to, if the Govt. don't stop its juvenile antics of buttin' in on everything, and go back to being just the umpire and seeing to it that the game is run square—and our U. S. A. is where freedom rings.

But while good citizens relieve their blood pressure and pop-off local, they don't go on down to the telegraph office or postoffice and tell the new man they just shipped off to congress. This new guy is most likely a nice kind of person, too—and would like ideas.

And as a first suggestion and sample—take the closed shop. Where are we coming out if each State cannot run its own affairs about labor. The Head Man there in the Labor Dept. in Wash., says let him run the shebang. Sisters and brothers, if you want to see your right to work where you choose go glimmering, just be quiet—say nothing—don't write.

From old St. Joe to the Chesapeake and from Mobile and Seattle to Utah and back, mama and papa better start scribblin' or their off-shoot, when he grows up, is in for some hard sleddin'.

SOO QUIZ: How much weight can a freight car take?

TRANSPORTING a heavy piece of farm machinery several hundred miles might be a "weighty" problem to some, but it's all in a days work to the Soo Line. Huge combines, heavy farm tractors, giant factory machines—they're common sights on fast Soo Line freights.

Easy to see that size or weight rarely stump us... considering that a single freight car has been known to carry in excess of 367,000 pounds! Easy to see, too, that shippers get a lot of service and shipping "know how" on the Soo Line.

YOUR INCOME TAX

by
John T. Jarecki, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Illinois

Items Not Deductible on Your Income Tax Return

Each year after the filing period it is necessary for the Collector to recompute the tax liability of individuals who claim deductions which are entirely personal, and as a result the taxpayer is required to pay interest as well as additional tax because of their disallowance. A partial list of items which you may not claim as expense is given for your study.

1. Funeral and burial expenses.
2. Cost of burial plot or vault.
3. Wages paid to servants, nursemaids and baby sitters, even though such expense is incurred because it is necessary for you to go to work.
4. Carfare or train fare paid in going to and from work.
5. Expense of maintaining your automobile used in going to and from work or for your personal and family use.
6. Cost of your lunches or suppers while working.
7. Carrying charges on purchases. Only part of what you pay when you are buying "on time" is interest, which must be stated separately to be deductible.
8. Gifts to family and friends.
9. Rents you pay for your living quarters.
10. Repairs and replacements on your personal residence.
11. Premiums on life insurance, on personal automobile or for insurance on your home.
12. Lawyers fees (unless connected with your business).
13. Cost of moving from place to place.

14. Dues to fraternal or political organizations.
15. Repayment of principal on a loan or mortgage.
16. Most "so-called" work clothing.
17. Special assessments on your property (these are additional cost of your property, and you may claim them as such when you sell it).
18. Tuition, books and incidental expenses while attending school.
19. Water tax on your personal residence or quarters.
20. This is not really a tax but a service charge for the use of water, and you may claim such expense only if you pay it for property which produces income.

21. Loss of a ring, suitcase, etc., which you cannot prove was stolen.

Antioch Methodists Send Half Ton of Clothing and Food to Europe and Asia

In a little over a year shipments of clothes, shoes, and bedding from the Antioch Methodist Church have totaled approximately 889 pounds. With collections of food and individual contributions of clothing the total is well past the 1,000 pound mark, according to G. Richard Tuttle, local minister.

During the year 1948 U. S. Protestant and Orthodox churches sent abroad through Church World Service more than $5,000,000 in cash and 33,000,000 pounds of supplies worth more than $11,000,000 to aid in rebuilding the physical and spiritual structures in many impoverished lands. This record tops that of 1947 by more than $1,000,000.

Church World Service during 1948 assisted 1,250 displaced persons to come to the U. S. for resettlement and aided some 50 theological students from abroad to study in seminaries here.

Uncle Sam Says

Some of my nephews and nieces want to save regularly and actually do it. Others mean to save but don't always get around to it. These latter are the ones who only think about a budget. The best way to save is to do it on a regular basis, every pay-day. And the best investment is U. S. Savings Bonds. If you're on a payroll, enroll for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or, if self-employed, sign up for the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank. Either way, you're building future security in the soundest way possible. And your money increases, four dollars for three in 10 years' time.

SHORT STORY

Childhood
EncoreBy
ROGER S. VREELAND

THE house still stands at 215 Inwood Lane, Claremont. The Inwood Lane is important. Remember that. The number doesn't make any difference, because then there wasn't another house within 500 yards.

Honeysuckle at the end of the piazza entwined a lattice screen and you could really suck the honey. Uncle Clem—who wasn't really my uncle—had shown me how. Cannas grew funnel-shape, way up past the piazza railing. Mother's round peony garden on the side lawn by the swing that my father had made (I never remembered him) grew luscious creamy pink and white flowers.

Inside was the brick fireplace before which the three of us would sit in the winter. Uncle Clem taking care of the fire and telling us stories while Mother sewed, and I would watch the picture of Nero's Horses over the mantel until I saw their eyes roll and breath steam out of their nostrils.

This was the house I was born in. It was big and it was old and it was full of strange nooks from cellar to attic. I knew Mother liked it for she often said she hoped some day to buy it.

Considering she was a widow, my mother did well in providing for the two of us until Mr. Hale came. That was Uncle Clem's real name. She didn't need the small amount he paid her. It was just from the kindness of her heart that she gave him a home. He was old, feeble, bent over; he carried a cane most of the time. I know those things now. But strangely I remembered him as spry, full of pep and fun. He was good and kind and always thinking of things to do.

MOTHER never knew where he came from, until after he was gone. The first I ever saw of him was when he appeared at the door into the living room and "entertained" him until Mother came in from the chicken coop.

Mother was cool to him at first. She was always suspicious of strangers. But I saw the kind of fellow he was right away. He told her his family was gone and asked if she had a room to spare. He said he had a little money, enough to pay for his room and board.

Uncle Clem spent nearly all his time with me. Sometimes he would forget what we were playing, and sit with a kind of dreamy, faraway look. Then he would snap back into what we were doing. He got to calling my mother Mom and I guess she didn't mind.

Once I heard him tell her that his working days were over and he enjoyed trying to be a boy again.

But there were some things I couldn't understand about him.

His will was made out to Mother, leaving her enough to buy the house.

When we played hiding games he'd seem to have an uncanny sense of where to look. He knew about the flat stone over the abandoned well behind the chicken coop before I showed it to him, the loose board on the floor of my closet, the recesses over the eaves in the attic, and the door to the unused cold storage vault in the cellar. He even knocked on one of the inside walls where it sounded hollow, and he said: "There was a window there once."

When Uncle Clem died I cried all night. Mother had to go into his personal things. His will was made out to her, leaving her enough to buy the house. I'll never forget her cry of surprise when she came across an old newspaper clipping he had saved. It was about his retirement from business. I have it now.

"Clement B. Hale," it began, "was served a testimonial dinner last night by the insurance company which he has served for 40 years. This is a record for the company, stated John H. Quinn, the president, who presented Mr. Hale with a gold watch. Hale, who now retires on pension, was born March 19, 1852, on Inwood Lane, Claremont."

'Victim'

Watches His Own Rescue

TWO RIVERS, WIS.—Coast Guardsmen who dragged a stream here were not amused when they discovered the "victim" watching the rescue work. They called police, who arrested Donald Berger, 26, on a drunk and disorderly charge. Police said Berger had an argument with a woman, who called for help. Berger jumped into the river, swam downstream, went home to change his clothes, and returned to watch the rescue operations.

He claimed there was no law against his swimming. But authorities disagreed.

Moslem Leader's
Bath Water Sells
For $256 an Ounce

BOMBAY, INDIA.—Since the Aga Kahn, 71 year old spiritual head of the Moslem Ismailians, seems likely to go on staying in Europe, away from India, two of his more devoted followers arranged the next best thing to his personal return—they managed to have a can of his bath water flown to them from Paris.

The velvet wrapped package arrived here on an American air liner, carried by a special messenger—one Mahamadbhai—who held it in his lap throughout the three day air voyage.

Mohamadbhai never left the package for a single moment. He said that in Cairo he had to fight customs officials who insisted on seeing its contents. Elsewhere, whisper of the turf loving potentate's name resolved all official doubts.

The happy recipients of the 25 ounces of bath water propose to divide it into numerous small portions to be distributed among pious Ismailians. And, like a true earthy god, his highness the Aga Kahn has charged $6,400 for this boon. A rich Moslem once paid $36,000 just to sit in the Aga Kahn's soapy bath after this worthy had completed his ablutions.

Other sources of revenue for the fabulously wealthy khan include letters of introduction to the Archangel Gabriel, a pinch on the left cheek of brides, a two second whispering of holy words into the purchaser's ear and periodic weightings against contributions of diamonds and gold from the faithful. The last of these weightings, in which the khan's considerable bulk paid off handsomely, took place in Bombay in February of 1946.

Want to Move an Island?
Get Some Wild Elephants!

BANGKOK.—A piece of Siam's frontier territory is drifting into Burma, thanks to a herd of Siamese wild elephants.

It happened like this:

In the River Mae Sai, the boundary between Burma and Northern Siam, is a fertile island named Koh Charnig. Koh Charnig is Siamese territory because it is nearer to Siam's side of the river. But an elephant tribe for many years has traveled at night along a path in Siam, parallel to the river. Their heavy feet wore the path into a real depression.

When rains caused the river to break its banks, the water rushed into the elephant path, eroding it into the stream.

If the new path of the river gets wide enough and enough of Siam is eroded away, the island will lie on the Burmese side of the river.

A Siamese parliament member said a dam would be built to halt the erosion and to keep the island in Siam.

If it doesn't work, he said sadly, he will lose several hundred loyal voters and Siam's government will lose the revenue from tobacco crops grown on the 9,000 square kilometers of island.

Hitchhiker in Coffin Causes
Rider to Break Leg in Leap

STUTTGART, GERMANY.—When a truck driver on the Augsburg-Munich autobahn picked up a hitchhiker carrying a coffin a series of incidents followed, according to the Stuttgarter Zeitung.

There was a cloudburst and the man with the coffin got inside and pulled down the lid. The rain began to stop and the driver picked up two more hitchhikers, who climbed into the back of the truck with the coffin.

As the truck started again, the man in the coffin raised the lid and, seeing the sun shining, began to get out. One of the other hitchhikers assumed that a corpse was getting out of the casket, gave a wild shriek and jumped off the truck. He fell on the cement highway and broke both legs. The coffin bearer and the other hitchhiker began to pound on the back of the cab and yell at the driver to stop.

Two Americans, driving behind in a jeep, saw the commotion and a man in the roadway. They dashed up to aid the truck driver, thinking a holdup was in progress.

After they stopped the truck, they discovered the truth and went back to rush the injured man to a hospital.

Swedish Republican League Will Meet Tomorrow and Saturday at Dekalb, Ill.

DeKalb, Ill.—Governor Val Peterson of Nebraska was announced today by Secretary Herbert R. Friedlund, prominent Chicago lawyer as principal speaker for the 55th Annual Convention of the John Ericson Republican League of Illinois, March 11-12.

Governor Peterson, a 45 year old war veteran serving his second term as Nebraska's chief executive, will address the League's banquet meeting at DeKalb's Masonic temple, Saturday evening, March 12.

Oscar W. Johnson, DeKalb, State

president of the organization, revealed recently that 700 delegates representing 16,000 Illinois members, are scheduled to attend the convention. He has prepared a reception to honor Governor and Mrs. Peterson before the banquet.

Wm. N. Erickson, President of the Board of Commissioners of Cook County, who many people are mentioning as a candidate for Governor of the State of Illinois on the Republican ticket in 1952 because of the outstanding record he is making as President of the Cook County Board, will introduce Governor Peterson to the delegates assembled.

The League was founded 55 years ago by men of Swedish extraction who were interested in the principles and ideals of the Republican party.

Bartlett to Operate Gas Station in Location Now Occupied by Hunter Garage

George B. Bartlett of 1084 S. Main St., announced that the lease of the Mid-Continent Oil Co., on the filling station and garage operated by Elmer Hunter at 970 S. Main st., will expire at the end of this month and his son, Clayton, will take over the place in operating it as a Texaco station.

The business known as Hunter's garage has been operated by Hunter for the last three years as a D-X station. Hunter has been seeking a new location without success and is closing out his present stock at sale prices.

Clayton Bartlett is restoring the business to a product which was sold there by the Bartletts prior to the time Hunter took over under lease through the oil company. He has been serving as principal of the Grayslake grade school and will resign that position to enter business.
